

New Theatre Quarterly

"Every college library – every drama department – every student of theatre – every theatre-goer has to subscribe"

Eric Bentley

"... the best theatre magazine I know of in English ..."

Edward Bond

"I collect NTQ. I use it. I keep having to refer to it."

Arnold Wesker

"We should thank our lucky stars that NTQ has been around to stimulate the clapped-out brain cells of the English theatre"

Charles Marowitz

New Theatre Quarterly is the literary forum where theatrical scholarship and practice meet. Its hard hitting articles question prevailing assumptions in the theatre world. NTQ follows four independent premises:

- theatre needs a philosophy
- theatre studies need a methodology
- criticism needs a language
- theatre history has contemporary relevance

Features of NTQ include interviews, debates, and book reviews. Articles cover Geography, Politics, History, Education – all aspects of life as they relate to the theatrical world.

British Journal of Music Education

Editors: John Paynter, University of York;
Keith Swanwick, University of London Institute of Education

The principal concern of the journal is to develop debate about issues in music education and to do so without restriction of style, method, or specialism. A large proportion of contributors are practising teachers. An important part of the journal's production is the annual cassette tape with music examples related to articles published during the year.

The range of subjects covered is wide:

- classroom music teaching
- individual instrumental teaching and group teaching
- music in higher education
- international comparative music education and the development of literature in this field

Early Music History

Editor: Iain Fenlon, King's College, Cambridge

Early Music History is devoted to the study of music from the early Middle Ages to the seventeenth century. It demands the highest standards of scholarship from its contributors, all of whom are leading academics in their fields. The journal promotes interdisciplinary work and new methodologies, although traditional approaches are represented as well.

Scope

The scope is exceptionally broad and includes:

- book review section
- illustrations
- music examples
- relationship between music and society
- manuscript studies
- textual criticism
- iconography

CAMBRIDGE Opera JOURNAL

A new approach to opera

Cambridge Opera Journal provides a new forum for the exchange of views and ideas from a variety of disciplines, attracting authors eager to communicate to a wider audience.

Cambridge Opera Journal addresses audiences from a wide variety of disciplines:

- musicology
- literature
- theatre
- history

The journal avoids narrowly musicological or philological modes of enquiry.

Coverage

Coverage is broad. From 'French grand opera' to 'technical innovation' and 'Janacek'. Special consideration is given to early opera and to twentieth century opera, as well as the nineteenth century repertoire. The journal is comprehensible to non-musicologists and is written for academics and scholars of related disciplines, as well as the serious opera lover.

Subscriptions 1990, Volume 2, March, July and November:

Richard Strauss: Arabella

KENNETH BIRKIN

This is the first comprehensive guide to Richard Strauss's Arabella, a work which has been censured in the past, but which is now accepted for its dramatic literary and musical merit. A full synopsis of the work provides an insight into the psychological motivation of the drama and an impression of the musical shape and substance of the opera.

ISI Tear Sheet Service, 3501 Market Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104, USA, is authorized to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only.

For all other use, permission should be sought from the Cambridge or New York offices of the Cambridge University Press.

Notes for contributors. The top (ribbon) copy of the typescript should be submitted. This must be double spaced with margins of at least 1". Footnotes, bibliographies, appendixes and indented quotations must also be double spaced.

Tables, graphs, diagrams and music examples must be supplied on separate sheets. Illustrations should be in the form of good black and white glossy prints, ideally measuring 203 mm × 153 mm (8" × 6"). All illustrative material should be numbered and carefully keyed into the typescript. Captions should be typed double spaced on separate sheets. Contributors who wish to reproduce photographs should provide good black and white prints, full details of the source and the full address of the copyright holder if this differs. Photographs will not normally be considered unless they are an intrinsic part of the contribution and their inclusion will always be at the discretion of the editors. The full address of the copyright holder should also be provided for any other material (such as music examples/lyrics) used in which the contributor does not hold copyright.

Bibliographical material. The method of citation is author-date system (Smith 1980, p. 66), which should be given in the text rather than in footnotes; full references should be listed at the end of each article. Abbreviations for the names of periodicals, libraries etc. should not be used without explanation. For more detailed matters of style please follow the practices of A Manual of Style, 12th edn (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1969).
