

South Pacific

Journal of Psychology

SPECIAL ISSUE:
Substance Use in Northern Australia

South Pacific Journal of Psychology
Volume 13(1), 2001

A Special Issue, dedicated to:

SUBSTANCE USE IN NORTHERN AUSTRALIA

Edited by

Bridie O'Reilly, Janice Jessen, Paul Rysavy¹ & Charles Roberts

School of Health, Education and Community Services
Northern Territory University
Darwin NT 0909
Australia

Alcohol and Drug Services
Department of Health and Community Services
Darwin NT 0811
Australia

Published and Sponsored by

The Northern Territory University
The Northern Territory
Australia

&

Massey University
Auckland
New Zealand/Aotearoa

Table of Contents
Volume 13(1), 2001

Articles

Pages

A cohort analysis of illicit psychoactive drug use in Australia 1988-98 1-13
Paul Williams & Ian McAllister

Social ecology of substance use in tertiary students: Preliminary findings 14-26
Bridie O'Reilly, Stuart Carr, Floyd Bolitho, Charles Roberts & Janice Jessen

Possible toxicity and withdrawal seizures in Aboriginal kava drinkers in Arnhem Land(Australia)..... 27-34
Alan Clough, Sheree Cairney, Paul Maruff, Chris Burns & Bart Currie

Does kava cause hallucinations in Aboriginal populations in eastern Arnhem Land (Australia)? 35-38
Alan Clough

Substance use and psychosis in the Territory 39-47
Tricia Nagel

Needle and syringe programs in the community: Responding to multiple and diverse needs..... 48-54
Clive Aspen

Qualitative research

Women's experiences of alcohol and other drug treatment in the Northern Territory 55-63
Janice Jessen

Case Studies

Case study: Sarah, a 33 year old woman seeking treatment for amphetamine dependence and depression 64-67
Paul Rysavy

Commentaries/Letters to the Editor

Work Hard, Play hard: Veni, Vidi, Absorpsi 68-69
Andrew Blood

Complex clients - complex systems? 70-75
Tania Towers

Book Reviews

N. Higginbotham, G. Albrecht & L Conner's Health Social Science: A Transdisciplinary and Complexity Approach 76-77
Janice Jessen