

Scandinavian Journal of Development Alternatives

Stockholm, Sweden

This is a journal with an interdisciplinary focus in the social sciences. It is both theoretical and practical nature, and seeks to confront and deal with every aspect of human development, covering all the socio-economic systems of the world. It has interest in such issues as basic social needs, fulfillment of human rights, avoidance of both class and other structural violence, the search for disarmament and peace, the maintenance of ecological balance, the removal of poverty and unemployment, improvement in North-South relations, and the finding of an international framework to deal equitably with trade, industrialization, migration, technology transfer, and general socio-economic disparities of a regional or a global kind.

Some Recently Published Articles

John W. Mogab: An Instrumentalist/Rights Model For Comparative Economic Systems

A. Saif: The Continuing Commitment: An Analysis of Kerala's land Reform Experience with Special Reference to the Kerala Land Reforms (Amendment) Bill 1989

Damien Ejigiri: Deteriorating Economic Trends in Developing/African Countries

D. Mabirizi: Development in Uganda: Some Experiences from the Industrial Sector

F. C. Okoli: The Education System in Borno State of Nigeria: A Study in Policy Implementation Lag

Amalendu Guha: Development Problems and Prospects of the 21st Century: Economy-based or Ecology-based?

Siamak Khatami: Ethnic Nationalism and Political Conflict: A Comparative Study of the Basque Country and Eritrea

Amon O. Okpala: Nigerian Population Growth and Its Implications for Economic Development

Franklin Vivekananda and Ibrahim James: Militarism and the Crisis of Democracy in Africa 1980 - 85.

Kailash S. Aggarwal: American Bilingual Education Revisited

Bayo Ninalowo: On the Structures and Praxis of Domination, Democratic Culture and Social Change: with Inference from Africa.

Donald H. Bishop: The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict, Past, Present, and Future

Norman G. Finkelstein: Zionist Orientations

Robert E. Looney: Demographic Change in the Arab Gulf States: Recent Trends and Implications for the Future.

Yair Levi: Relating the Cooperative and the Community: A New Classificatory Approach

Jehan Perera: Sri Lanka: History of Ethnic Relations, Formation of the Tamil National Identity and the Demand for a Separate State.

Dilip K Dutta: Nehru: The Architect of Indian State and Planning

Write to S. J. D. A. Box 7444, 103 91 Stockholm, Sweden.

The British Journal of Political Science

Coverage

Based in Britain but not restricted to Britain in either subject matter or contributors, British Journal of Political Science is written for a professional, international readership. Contributions to the journal cover all branches of political science including international relations and strategic studies and it frequently carries articles from scholars in related disciplines (sociologists, social psychologists, anthropologists, economists and philosophers). Recent numbers have published articles on current political theory, political philosophy, United States politics, Soviet politics, political culture, electoral behaviour and international relations.

Review Articles

Review Articles are an important feature in each issue. They discuss at length some important new book or subfield of the discipline and are long enough to give the author room to develop his or her own argument. Recent topics have been Thatcherism, Northern Ireland, electoral change, privatisation and critical theory in international relations.

British Journal of Political Science (ISSN 0007-1234) is published quarterly in January, April, July and October. Volume 21 (1991) costs £32 for individuals, £65 for UK institutions and £69 elsewhere. Order from Journals Department, Cambridge University Press, The Edinburgh Building, Cambridge CB2 2RU, FAX 0223 315052

The Editorial Board

The editors of British Journal of Political Science, IVOR CREWE and ANTHONY KING, both at the University of Essex, have the highest reputations in political science. The editorial board draws its members from six different countries and reflects both a broad spectrum of intellectual disciplines and a familiarity with an extensive range of problems facing contemporary governments.

From recent issues

Articles

Ron Amann, Soviet Politics in the Gorbachev Era

Carole Pateman, 'God Hath to Man Ordained a Helper': Hobbes, Patriarchy and Conjugal Right

Brian Barry, How Not to Defend Liberal Institutions

J. Merrill Shanks and Warren Miller, Policy Direction and Performance Evaluation: Complementary Explanations of the Reagan Elections

Review Articles

Peter Jones, Reexamining Rights

David Bell and Byron Criddle, The Decline of the French Communist Party

 Cambridge
Journals